Cadbury Request Help!

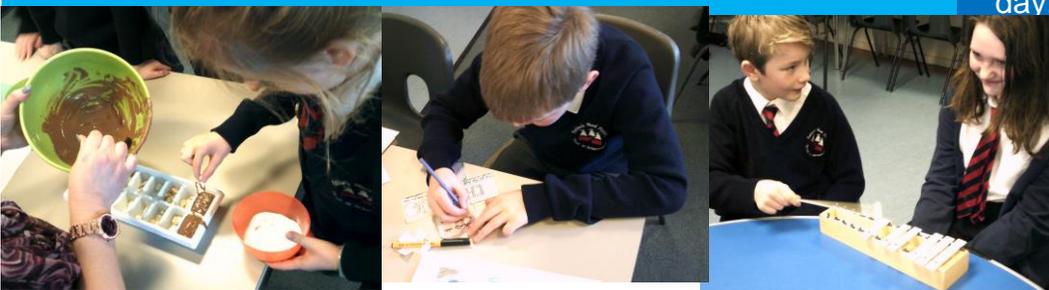

While many Year 5 pupils began their residential week in Wales last week, those remaining in school took part in an exciting project, led by Miss Boniface. Below, some of those children explain more...

'While part of year five were on the residential, those who were left behind had fun doing a project. 'Charlie and the Chocolate Factory' is celebrating its 55th anniversary so Cadbury want people to make their own chocolate to sell for Easter time. For the past week, year five have been designing chocolates and boxes to put them in.

During the week we did many things such as logos, slogans, market research, boxes and the best part was making and eating the delicious chocolate. We also made jingles from our slogans and rehearsed them; at the end of the week we got to sing them aloud to the rest of the class. We enjoyed the chocolate making because it was something different and the results were amazing. At the end of the week, like real designers, we evaluated our work and thought about what went well and what we would do different next time.

Our teacher for this project, Miss Boniface, quoted "It has been very successful and lovely to see all the children working together so well. It has been great fun and I feel all the children have learned a lot. They should all be very proud of themselves."

Young Voices at the O2...

On Monday 4 February, Mrs Knight, once again, took members of 'Smash' to participate in the singing event, held annually at the O2 in Greenwich.

The children all enjoyed learning new dance moves, taught by the Urban Striders, and showed these off throughout. They also particularly loved the grand finale, where there was a medley of songs from The Greatest Showman and Tony Hadley performed on stage.

Thank you to all parents who came along and to those who took the time to let us know how much they enjoyed the day.

Learning in school so far...

This week's highlights:

Year 1 have continued learning about penguins as a part of their topic this term. In particular, they have discovered facts about emperor penguins and watched clips, to see them in the wild. Using this information, they created fact sheets.

1R then put their design and technology skills to the test as they made penguins of their own, with moving parts. They drew round a template, coloured each part, cut these out and attached the wings and feet with split pins.

Each class has also had an opportunity to visit Wingham Wildlife Park this week where they saw the penguins being fed!

This week, Key Stage 1 and EYFS have also had a treat! Every class had the opportunity to participate in an exciting drama workshop. Theme... Superheroes!

Mr Bopper (an evil genius!) had been wasting energy by leaving all the lights on in Party Land. The children had to use their superpowers - and a lot of imagination - to save the World. They stole his glasses so they could make sure all the lights were off and save energy.

All the children enjoyed taking part and the teachers were impressed with their acting skills and enthusiasm.
